1. INTRODUCTION & AIMS

At Yewtree, we aim to provide all children with an education that prepares them for the opportunities, responsibilities, and experiences of adult life. We want to encourage our pupils to develop self-respect, confidence, and empathy, which will enable them to make positive choices and decisions, developing safe and positive relationships and habits. We believe it is important to make pupils aware of the importance of health and hygiene, give them an understanding of sexual development and prepare them for puberty, and help them move confidently and responsibly into adolescence and adulthood. We aim to create a positive culture around relationships and help children to make responsible choices about their health and wellbeing.

A key part of this relates to relationships and health education, which must be delivered to every primary-aged pupil from September 2020. Primary schools also have the option to decide whether pupils are taught sex education, and we believe it is important to include elements of sex education in our curriculum at Yewtree.

This policy sets out the framework for our relationships, sex and health education (RSHE) curriculum, providing clarity on how it is informed, organised and delivered, and how it relates to our curriculum as a whole.

2. TEACHING RSHE IN PARTNERSHIP WITH PARENTS/CARERS

We believe that parents/carers are the first teachers of their children, and this includes what children learn about relationships, sex and health. Parents/carers have the most significant influence in enabling their children to grow and mature and to form healthy relationships. Schools complement and reinforce this role and build on what pupils learn at home as an important part of delivering a good education.

We therefore also understand how important parents'/carers' views are in shaping our RSHE curriculum. To support this, we work closely with parents/carers by establishing open communication and ensuring they are consulted in the development and delivery of the curriculum. Parents/carers are encouraged to provide their views at any time.

The RSHE curriculum opens up discussion about many aspects of a child's daily life. We recognise that, for a whole variety of reasons, some parents/carers can be anxious about RSHE being taught in school, or may hold strong beliefs about what is taught and when their own child should be exposed to certain content. We will support parents/carers by inviting them into school to discuss what will be taught, address any concerns and help parents/carers to manage conversations positively with their children on the issues covered by RSHE.

Parents/carers can only support the teaching of RSHE if they are provided with the right information at the right time. We will therefore ensure that parents/carers are provided with the following information and opportunities:

- the content of our RSHE curriculum, including what is taught in each year group
- the resources that will be used to support the curriculum
- the legalities surrounding withdrawing their child from sex education
- an 'open door' approach so that parents/carers can liaise directly with staff if they have any concerns
- signposting parents/carers to further support
- informing parents/carers of any questions which arise during RSHE lessons which fall outside of our planned curriculum and which may need to be followed up at home

- Pastoral Support as needed in relation to any issues that emerge

3. LEGAL FRAMEWORK

This policy has due regard to legislation and statutory guidance including, but not limited to, the following:

- Section 78 and 80A of the Education Act 2002, under which a personal, social and health education (PSHE) curriculum must be provided which promotes the spiritual, moral, cultural, mental and physical development of pupils at the school and of society, and prepares pupils at the school for the opportunities, responsibilities and experiences of later life
- Section 34 and 35 of the Children and Social Work Act 2017, which makes it compulsory for us to provide relationships and health education to all pupils
- The National Curriculum states that, Sex and relationship education (SRE) is an important part of PSHE education and is statutory in maintained secondary schools
- In the Early Years, the Statutory framework for the early year's foundation stage sets the standards that all early years providers must meet to ensure that children learn and develop well and are kept healthy and safe
- The Equality Act 2010 which covers discrimination based on age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex and sexual orientation

4. DEFINING OUR RSHE CURRICULUM

- We define relationships education as learning the fundamental building blocks and characteristics of positive relationships, with particular reference to friendships, family relationships, and relationships with other children and with adults
- We define health education as learning about physical health and mental wellbeing to give them the information that they need to make good decisions about their own health and wellbeing.
- We define sex education as learning about physical development and puberty, the facts of human sexual reproduction. As explained below, at primary level, we do not proactively teach other content, including other aspects of human sexual activity; reproductive health; reproductive rights; safe sex; birth control or sexual abstinence

We use a nationally recognised programme called Jigsaw to deliver the core content of the relationships, sex and health education (RSHE) curriculum so children may refer to this as their 'Jigsaw learning'.

The statutory guidance for Relationships and Health Education for primary schools and RSE and Health Education for secondary schools, was ratified by the House of Lords on 24th April 2019. Jigsaw second edition completely fulfils the new statutory guidance (for England for 2020)

Jigsaw 3-11 offers a comprehensive Programme for Primary PSHE including statutory Relationships and Health Education, in a spiral, progressive and fully planned scheme of work, giving children relevant learning experiences to help them navigate their world and to develop positive relationships with themselves and others.

With strong emphasis on emotional literacy, building resilience and nurturing mental and physical health, Jigsaw 3-11 properly equips schools to deliver engaging and relevant PSHE within a whole-school approach. Jigsaw lessons also include mindfulness allowing children to advance their emotional awareness, concentration and focus.

Appendix 1 gives an overview of the 'Jigsaw Puzzles', which are half termly, whole-school themes around which the Jigsaw programme is organised.

Our RSHE curriculum complements, but does not duplicate, content covered in other national curriculum subjects, including science, computing, and PE.

5. DELIVERY OF THE CURRICULUM

The curriculum content above is synthesised into an integrated programme of study, as set out in Appendix 2: Jigsaw content by chronological age – 2a Relationships, 2b Health, 2c Sex Education.

This is aligned with the expectations in Appendix 3, which set out what every child should know by the end of primary school, published by the Department for Education.

Our Jigsaw half termly unit of work is introduced through an assembly, with the particular theme for each week shared in a weekly assembly (class) and is then followed up by classroom based activities. These sessions follow a carefully planned progression of skills, which address issues in a timely way in line with current evidence on children's physical, emotional and sexual development. Through this approach, the school ensures that all teaching and materials are appropriate for the ages of the pupils, their religious backgrounds, their developmental stages and any additional needs, such as SEND.

Occasionally, classes may be taught in gender-segregated groups, dependent upon the nature of the topic being delivered at the time, and the cultural background of pupils where, for example, it may be appropriate to discuss the body in single gender groups.

Throughout every year group, appropriate diagrams, videos, books, games, discussion and practical activities will be used to assist learning. Inappropriate images, videos, etc., will not be used, and resources will be selected with sensitivity given to the age, developmental stage and cultural background of pupils.

Teachers will ensure that pupils' views are listened to and will encourage them to ask questions and engage in discussion. If pupils ask questions outside the scope of our planned RSHE content, for example, about contraception, teachers will answer these questions sensitively, honestly and appropriately to the pupil's age and development, so that children have their questions answered and are not forced to find potentially inaccurate answers online or from peers. Teachers will always use their professional judgement to decide what an age-appropriate response is and whether it may be more appropriate to respond to an individual on a one-to-one basis, away from the whole class setting. We will always make sure that parents/carers are made aware if any questions arise which fall outside the set content.

Teachers will ensure that lesson plans are centred on reducing stigma, particularly in relation to mental wellbeing, and encouraging openness through discussion activities and group work.

In teaching the wider RSHE curriculum, teachers will be aware that pupils may raise topics such as self-harm and suicide. When talking about these topics in lessons, teachers will be aware of the risks of encouraging these behaviours and will avoid any resources or material that appear as instructive rather than preventative.

6. CONFIDENTIALITY AND CHILD PROTECTION/SAFEGUARDING ISSUES

As a general rule a child's confidentiality is maintained by the teacher or member of staff concerned. If the adult believes that the child is at risk or in danger, they talk to the named child protection co-ordinator who takes action as laid down in the child protection policy.

All staff members are familiar with the policy and know the identity of the Designated Senior Leads for child protection. The child concerned will be informed that confidentiality is being breached and reasons why. The child will be supported by the teacher throughout the process, and pastoral support provided as necessary.

7. EQUALITY

The school understands its responsibilities in relation to the Equality Act 2010, specifically that it must not unlawfully discriminate against anyone because of their:

- age
- sex or sexual orientation
- race
- disability
- religion or belief
- gender reassignment
- pregnancy or maternity
- marriage or civil partnership

Provisions under the Equality Act 2010 allow our school to take positive action, where it can be evidenced to be proportionate, to respond to particular disadvantages affecting a group because of a protected characteristic.

We are committed to making reasonable adjustments wherever possible to promote accessibility and inclusivity of the curriculum. The school understands that pupils with special educational needs and disabilities (SEND) or other needs, such as those with social, emotional or mental health (SEMH) needs, are entitled to learn about RSHE and the programme will be designed to be inclusive of these pupils. We understand that we may need to reshape explanations and adapt planning of work and teaching methods in order to appropriately deliver the programme to pupils with SEND, SEMH or other needs.

We will be also be mindful that our RSHE curriculum is delivered in the context of family life, and will take care to ensure that there is no stigmatisation of children based on their home circumstances (families can include single parent families, LGBTQ+ parents, families headed by grandparents, adoptive parents, foster parents/carers, amongst other family units). We will be sensitive to the fact that some children may have a different structure of support around them (for example: looked after children, post-looked after children, young carers or those who are subject to special guardianship orders).

We are equally mindful of the cultural sensitivity of the RSHE curriculum and that the content may be viewed differently by families from different ethnicities or religious and belief perspectives. We will take time to listen to views and opinions as they are expressed, and liaise with parents/carers to discuss their individual child. Our aim is always to create a community where different religious and belief perspectives are respected, tolerated and celebrated, alongside our legal duty to deliver a broad and balanced RSHE curriculum.

We believe that RSHE should meet the needs of all pupils, including those who are emerging as LGBTQ+ (lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, questioning, + other). We are mindful that children are developing their sexuality and sexual identity and will deal honestly and sensitively with matters around sexual orientation and gender diversity, answering questions in a way which is appropriate to the age and development of the child, and offering support where needed. LGBTQ+ bullying is dealt with strongly yet sensitively. Parents do not have the right to withdraw their child from lessons where LGBTQ+ issues are encountered. However, where needed, we will liaise with parents/carers to reassure them of the content and seek to understand the context for their individual child, including their religious and belief perspectives from home.

8. PARENTS' RIGHT TO WITHDRAW FROM SEX EDUCATION

We are required by law to deliver relationships and health education and parents/carers do not have the right to withdraw their child from these lessons.

However, parents/carers do have the right to withdraw their children from our sex education curriculum. As clarified above, this solely relates to content around the facts of human reproduction in Years 4-6.

Those parents/carers wishing to exercise this right are asked to make an appointment to meet informally with the Executive Head Teacher, Deputy Head and/or one of the Assistant Head Teachers in school who will:

- clarify what is taught
- share planned resources with parents/carers
- explore any concerns
- discuss any impact that withdrawal may have on the child.

Formal requests for withdrawal should then be put in writing using the form found in Appendix 4 of this policy and addressed to the Executive head teacher. A copy of this form will be placed in the pupil's educational record.

Once the formal request for withdrawal has been received, the child will not take part in sex education lessons until the request for withdrawal has been removed. Parents/carers can ask for a request for withdrawal to be removed at any time and are encouraged to review this on at least an annual basis.

If a pupil is excused from sex education, it is our responsibility to ensure that the pupil receives appropriate, purposeful education during the period of withdrawal.

Materials can be made available to parents/carers who wish to supplement the school sex education programme or who wish to deliver sex education to their children at home.

9. ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

The Governing Board will approve the RSHE policy and hold the head teacher to account for its implementation.

The Executive head teacher is responsible for ensuring that RSHE is taught consistently across the school, and for managing requests to withdraw pupils from non-statutory components of RSHE.

Staff are responsible for delivering RSE in a sensitive way; modelling positive attitudes to RSHE; monitoring progress; responding to the needs of individual pupils and responding appropriately to pupils whose parents wish them to be withdrawn from the non-statutory components of RSHE.

Staff do not have the right to opt out of teaching RSHE. Staff who have concerns about teaching RSHE are encouraged to discuss this with the Executive head teacher.

Pupils are expected to engage fully in RSHE and, when discussing issues related to RSHE, treat others with respect and sensitivity.

10. TRAINING

Staff will be trained on the delivery of RSHE as part of our continuing professional development calendar.

The RSHE curriculum leader also supports colleagues, keeping them informed about current developments in the curriculum, and providing a strategic lead and direction for RSHE in the school.

The head teacher will also invite visitors from outside the school, such as school nurses or sexual health professionals, to provide support and training to staff teaching RSHE if and when required.

11.MONITORING ARRANGEMENTS

The delivery of RSHE is monitored by the curriculum leader by reviewing evidence of the children's work, talking to pupils and undertaking lesson observations of teaching across the school.

Pupils' achievement in RSE is assessed by class teachers as part of our internal assessment systems.

12.REVIEW

The local governing board will review this policy in line with its schedule of policy review.

Appendix 3a: DfE Guidance - Relationships: By the end of primary school, pupils should know...

TOPIC	PUPILS SHOULD KNOW
Families and people who care about me	that families are important for children growing up because they can give love, security and stability the characteristics of healthy family life, commitment to each other, including in times of difficulty, protection and care for children and other family members, the importance of spending time together and sharing each other's lives that others' families, either in school or in the wider world, sometimes look different from their family, but that they should respect those differences and know that other children's families are also characterised by love and care that stable, caring relationships, which may be of different types, are at the heart of happy families, and are important for children's security as they grow up that marriage represents a formal and legally recognised commitment of two people to each other which is intended to be lifelong how to recognise if family relationships are making them feel unhappy or unsafe, and how to seek help or advice from others if needed
Caring friendships	how important friendships are in making us feel happy and secure, and how people choose and make friends the characteristics of friendships, including mutual respect, truthfulness, trustworthiness, loyalty, kindness, generosity, trust, sharing interests and experiences and support with problems and difficulties that healthy friendships are positive and welcoming towards others, and do not make others feel lonely or excluded that most friendships have ups and downs, and that these can often be worked through so that the friendship is repaired or even strengthened, and that resorting to violence is never right how to recognise who to trust and who not to trust, how to judge when a friendship is making them feel unhappy or uncomfortable, managing conflict, how to manage these situations and how to seek help or advice from others, if needed

Respectful relationships	the importance of respecting others, even when they are very different from them (for example, physically, in character, personality or backgrounds), or make different choices or have different preferences or beliefs practical steps they can take in a range of different contexts to improve or support respectful relationships the conventions of courtesy and manners the importance of self-respect and how this links to their own happiness that in school and in wider society they can expect to be treated with respect by others, and that in turn they should show due respect to others, including those in positions of authority about different types of bullying (including cyberbullying), the impact of bullying, responsibilities of bystanders (primarily reporting bullying to an adult) and how to get help what a stereotype is, and how stereotypes can be unfair, negative or destructive the importance of permission-seeking and giving in relationships with friends, peers and adults
Online relationships	that people sometimes behave differently online, including by pretending to be someone they are not that the same principles apply to online relationships as to face-to face relationships, including the importance of respect for others online including when we are anonymous the rules and principles for keeping safe online, how to recognise risks, harmful content and contact, and how to report them how to critically consider their online friendships and sources of information including awareness of the risks associated with people they have never met how information and data is shared and used online
Being safe	what sorts of boundaries are appropriate in friendships with peers and others (including in a digital context) about the concept of privacy and the implications of it for both children and adults; including that it is not always right to keep secrets if they relate to being safe that each person's body belongs to them, and the differences between appropriate and inappropriate or unsafe physical, and other, contact how to respond safely and appropriately to adults they may encounter (in all contexts, including online) whom they do not know how to recognise and report feelings of being unsafe or feeling bad about any adult how to ask for advice or help for themselves or others, and to keep trying until they are heard how to report concerns or abuse, and the vocabulary and confidence needed to do so where to get advice e.g. family, school and/or other sources

Appendix 3b: DfE Guidance - Health: By the end of primary school, pupils should know...

TOPIC	PUPILS SHOULD KNOW
Mental wellbeing	that mental wellbeing is a normal part of daily life, in the same way as physical health. that there is a normal range of emotions (e.g. happiness, sadness, anger, fear, surprise, nervousness) and scale of emotions that all humans experience in relation to different experiences and situations. how to recognise and talk about their emotions, including having a varied vocabulary of words to use when talking about their own and others' feelings. how to judge whether what they are feeling and how they are behaving is appropriate and proportionate. the benefits of physical exercise, time outdoors, community participation, voluntary and service-based activity on mental wellbeing and happiness. simple self-care techniques, including the importance of rest, time spent with friends and family and the benefits of hobbies and interests. isolation and loneliness can affect children and that it is very important for children to discuss their feelings with an adult and seek support. that bullying (including cyberbullying) has a negative and often lasting impact on mental wellbeing. where and how to seek support (including recognising the triggers for seeking support), including whom in school they should speak to if they are worried about their own or someone else's mental wellbeing or ability to control their emotions (including issues arising online). it is common for people to experience mental ill health. For many people who do, the problems can be resolved if the right support is made available, especially if accessed early enough.
Internet safety and harms	that for most people the internet is an integral part of life and has many benefits. about the benefits of rationing time spent online, the risks of excessive time spent on electronic devices and the impact of positive and negative content online on their own and others' mental and physical wellbeing. how to consider the effect of their online actions on others and know how to recognise and display respectful behaviour online and the importance of keeping personal information private. why social media, some computer games and online gaming, for example, are age restricted. that the internet can also be a negative place where online abuse, trolling, bullying and harassment can take place, which can have a negative impact on mental health. how to be a discerning consumer of information online including understanding that information, including that from search engines, is ranked, selected and targeted. where and how to report concerns and get support with issues online.

Physical health and fitness	the characteristics and mental and physical benefits of an active lifestyle. the importance of building regular exercise into daily and weekly routines and how to do this, for example, walking or cycling to school, a daily active mile or other forms of regular exercise. the risks associated with an inactive lifestyle (including obesity). how and when to seek support including which adults to speak to in school if they have concerns about their health.
Healthy eating	what constitutes a healthy diet (including understanding calories and other nutrients) and the principles of planning and preparing a range of healthy meals. the characteristics of a poor diet and risks associated with unhealthy eating (including obesity, tooth decay) and other behaviours (e.g. the impact of alcohol on health).
Drugs, alcohol and tobacco	the facts about legal and illegal harmful substances and associated risks, including alcohol use and drug-taking.
Health and prevention	how to recognise early signs of physical illness, such as weight loss, or unexplained changes in the body. about safe and unsafe exposure to the sun, and how to reduce the risk of sun damage and skin cancer. the importance of sufficient good quality sleep for good health and that a lack of sleep can affect weight, mood and ability to learn. about dental health and the benefits of good oral hygiene and dental flossing, including regular check-ups at the dentist. about personal hygiene and germs including bacteria, viruses, how they are spread and the importance of handwashing. the facts and science relating to allergies, immunisation and vaccination.
Basic first aid	how to make a clear and efficient call to emergency services if necessary. concepts of basic first-aid, for example dealing with common injuries, including
Changing adolescent body	key facts about puberty and the changing adolescent body, particularly from age 11, including physical and emotional changes. about menstrual wellbeing including the key facts about the menstrual cycle.
